Introduction

This Housing Guide is intended for students who plan to spend an exchange semester or year at the EM Strasbourg Business School. It explains the various housing options that are available in Strasbourg to international students. These are divided into the following:

1. University of Strasbourg residencies (page 4) offer rooms at affordable rates ranging from basic single rooms with shared facilities to en-suite, fully equipped studios. The university residencies are managed by the CROUS, the student services body, and are rented out to University of Strasbourg students. Exchange students at the EM Strasbourg Business School will be registered as University of Strasbourg students and are therefore eligible. There are two ways to apply:

- a) Apply via the EM Strasbourg Business School's on-line application procedure in June.

The EM Strasbourg Business school has been allocated a limited number of rooms in university residencies and these will be distributed based on the above mentioned application procedure on a first-come, first-served basis. Please see our e-mails for more details.

- b) Apply directly to CROUS. Students need to submit an individual application to CROUS, independently of the EM Strasbourg Business School. The application will need to include a number of supporting documents, including the Letter of Acceptance from the EM Strasbourg Business School and a proof of French housing insurance for the time of your stay. Please consult the CROUS website (in French only) for further information on the application procedure.

2. Private student residencies (page 7) – these are privately owned and managed student residencies. They may offer a higher level of comfort than university residencies; however, they are also more expensive. Students interested in staying in one of these residencies should contact them directly, independently of the EM Strasbourg Business School.
3. Les Foyers (page 9) – these are privately owned and managed student/youth hostels offering a slightly lower level of comfort than the private student residencies, but also cheaper. Students interested in staying in one of these residencies should contact them directly, independently of the EM Strasbourg Business School.
4. Private accommodation (page 13) – students may rent a room, studio or an apartment privately by responding to adverts on local housing websites or on the Housing Anywhere website. We will also collect and forward to students information on available rooms/apartments/co-shares as such information reaches us. Please note, however, that applications for private housing are made by the students independently of the EM Strasbourg Business School. Please also note that some landlords might ask for a French guarantor (see more info on page 15) and that often privately rented accommodation is not furnished. Furthermore, tenants might be asked to pay a housing tax (taxe d'habitation) to the municipality. The amount of the tax is based on the net rental pay. The fee is imposed once a year (January 1st), so not everybody might be concerned.

I. University Residences

University Residences are managed by the CROUS and are intended for students only. EM Strasbourg Business School has a limited number of rooms allocated in CROUS residencies and exchange students will be able to apply for a room via an on-line application between 9 and 12 June 2014 (for students arriving in September 2014; we will send you additional information about the application procedure closer to the time).

IV. Housing Websites

You can find some adds on the following websites (please make sure that the ads are for furnished apartments if you need it (meublé) :

Leboncoin.fr – website where you can find announcements for rooms/studios/apartments for rent by private owners or real estate companies. You can also find announcements for flat shares.

Vivastreet.fr - website where you can find announcements for rooms/studios/apartments for rent both by private owners or real estate companies.

Appartager.fr – useful websites for those who wants to try flat sharing in France. You may find here rooms which are available for short period of time.

Adele.org – website with a list of private student residence.

DNA – classified ads for available accommodation in Alsace.

PAP – website where house and apartment owners place ads.

V. Housing Anywhere

Housing Anywhere is a student-to-student platform that allows students going abroad to sublet their rooms. Incoming exchange students can then search for rooms that were sublet and find a room for a short period.

Housing Anywhere is for students only, there are no landlords or real estate agencies involved. This means more rooms of good quality for a better price.

Housing Anywhere is not only a way for you to find short term housing abroad (a process that is not always easy), it is also a way to make some money by renting out your room while you are gone. Instead of leaving your room empty while you are out of the country, why not let someone else take advantage of your departure?

If you would like to get involved, either to look for an apartment in your city or to post an announcement in your city before you leave, visit their website here.

VI. Information about Housing Subsidies

If you are a student staying in France for at least three months you can benefit from housing subsidies on most of the housing in Strasbourg through a program called CAF or Caisse d'allocations Familiales. To be eligible, you need to be a European citizen or a non-European citizen whose visa requires you to go through the OFII immigration procedure (your local French Embassy will inform you whether you need to go through the OFII procedure). The CAF housing subsidy will cover part of your rent. The amount of money you receive varies by case and depends on your situation as well as the rent you pay. It usually takes several months to start getting the payments so be sure to begin the process early on.

To get more information on the housing subsidy, please visit the website of the CAF here \(in French\).

VII. Information about French Guarantors

Please keep in mind during your housing search that many landlords will require a French guarantor. This means that they require a French person to guarantee that they will pay your rent in the case you fail to do it. If you are in this situation, an alternative possibility is offered by a French bank (Banque Populaire) and it is possible to benefit from their services (within a couple of weeks after your arrival in Strasbourg) if you are in one of the situations described below:

- You are a non-European student under the age of 28 and have to pay for the French student social security (215€) upon your arrival at the university:
  - o In this case, we recommend that you choose the social security center LMDE which has a partnership with this bank to provide students with a French guarantor. If you open a bank account with the Banque Populaire and you have paid for the LMDE services when arriving in Strasbourg, the bank can automatically be your guarantor.

- You are not in the previous situation:
  - o Banque Populaire may accept to be your guarantor if you open an account with them and provide them with the following documents:
    - Copy of your passport and your parents passports
    - 3 last pay slips of your parents (one of them can be enough)
    - Last year's tax return paper from your parents and an electricity bill
    - A letter from your parents (in French or English) which guarantees that they engage to pay for your rent+30% in case you don't pay your rent.

Opening a bank account with the Banque Populaire and benefiting from this service will cost you 75€ (opening) and 13€/month for bank service fees.

Another option is to apply to the CLÉ

VIII. Understanding Vocabulary in Rental Ads

F1, F2, F3, or T1, T2, T3:	This is the number of rooms in the apartment (bedrooms and lounge(s))
Loyer:	Rent
Loyer+Ch.:	The “ch” means “charges” which stands for maintenance bills
Loyer CC:	The “CC” means “Charges Comprises” = charges included. You don’t need to pay extra except for electricity maybe.
RDC (Rez-de-Chaussée):	This means it is on the ground floor (first floor in the US)
Mansardé:	This means that the apartment is on the last floor, under the roof and therefore some of the rooms might lose some space because of the shape of the roof.
Chbre ou Chbr:	Means bedroom
Chauff. Coll:	The heating is for the whole building and most probably counted in the charges as opposed to individual heating.
Coloc. :	Can be shared with someone (if it doesn’t appear in the ad, it doesn’t mean that you can’t share)
SDB (salle de bain):	Bathroom
Clic-Clac:	Fold-out couch
Chambre de bonne:	Small room at the top of a building (in the attic)
Studette:	Small studio (apartment for one person)
Studio:	One person’s apartment which has the bedroom and the kitchen in the same room
1er ét. , 2ème ét. ....:	1st floor, 2nd floor... (in France, the ground level is called Rez-de-Chaussée and the first elevated level is the 1st Floor)
Meublé	Means that the apartment is furnished
Non-meublé	The apartment is not furnished, which is normally the case with most privately rented apartments.
